At the Inn the people fair-If jammed the sidewalks, and a goodly crowd was lined out all along the line of march. The parade was a dandy considering the weather and the beautifully decorated automobiles carrying the returned heroes, veterans of 1866 and guests looked very pretty as they slowly wended their way along the street.

Facts and Fancies By Frank Fairborn

Win The War Conference:

Thank goodness Alderman Bourne and Clerk Brumley have returned safely from Montreal where they were attending the Win The War Conference.

I was in droad all the time they were away that some of those anticonscription fellows in Quobec would get hold of our two townsmen and do them mortal injury but now that they are safely back my mind is greatly rural inhabitants of the province of Quebec are concerned and the other is

Some people claim that everybody is crazy on some one or more subjects, the claim being made that while a man may be rational on almost everything that you mention yet there will be some one subject upon which he will hold such peculiar views that he will be looked upon as insane on that demonstration or not but I am inclined to think that if our council is crazy while in the country portions of Quebec the people are not so well educated Building." Hamilton,

First of all there was the junketing trip to Toronto of three or four members of the municipal corporation to buy a horse. Several of the memhers knew nothing about a horse and their only object in going was to swell the size of the cheque for expenses. Of course they would also get a little experience as they passed round through the surging crowds of Jews, hucksters, fakers, drovers, and horse dealers in the various stables in Toronto while looking for a horse. They would at least learn what the smell of a horse stable is like.

The second junketing trip was when members of our municipal board went to Toronto again to buy another horse, but even in this case there were members present whose only usefulness was that of swelling the size of the cheque for expenses.

The third junketing trip was when three members of the municipal organization went to Toronto to attend a Cement Road meeting. Upon each of the gentlemen being questioned upon their returnt no, one of them knew what the meeting was about and each of them thought it was about a different thing, all of their guesses being wrong, but the cheque for expenses went through just the same.

The fourth junketing trip was when two members of the corporation visited Montreal last week to attend the Win The War onference and the cheque for this trip will not be any flen bite as railroads and hotels get their share nowadays. I do not know the size of the cheque yet but I do know that the ratepayers will never get their money back. In fact as far as that part is concerned the ratepayers will never get their money back for the amount spent on any of these junketing trips this year.

Junketing has been a bug that has bothered the brain of almost every municipal council in the country at one time or another. There is scarcely a city in the province that has not had a bee in its bonnet at one time or another for junketing trips. Of course in each case the bee buzzed itself out jater of militia to make every eligible man Canada do his share towards and thereafter junketing trips were few and far between.

I am sorry that Grimsby became affected with the bug in war time when our money could have been much better used than sending men away to attend meetings on subjects they know nothing about. What new form the bee will start buzzing in, is not yet revealed but I would suggest to the council that if it has any more money to throw away that there are many much more useful methods than that of junketing trips, For instance, Billy McGee, the town scavenger, can be pensioned and placed on the civic ser-Vice list at a fixed salary, so that his income would be the same in winter as well as summer. This would improve Billy's condition very much as Billy is a millionaire in the summer while jobs are picatiful, while in the winter he finds it pretty hard skidning.

If they did not care to put Billy on the pension list as a fixture they could at least make arrangements with one of the tonsorial artists to cut Billy's hair, trim his whiskers, and singe his eyebrows once a month regularly so that he would put up a proper appearance as one of the civic inntitutions

It is very much easier to tear down than it is to build up, so it is also in municipal affairs very much easier to waste money than to spend it judiclously. It takes less brain power, less experience and less caution.

What we want in our council just now is somebody who has got a strong enough hand to put on the brakes.

Our municipal institutions have got fate the habit of spending money upon suggestions without even asking the why or the wherefore. The sooner this kind of thing is stopped the better. There are people in the world who have not got a true sense of the value of money and they have but faint |. conception of the proper methods of spending money especially if it is not their own money. Parties of this kind can make suggestions to a municipal board and if they suggest often enough and freely enough it will be sure to keep the expenditure going at a pretty fair clip. A great deal of the expenditure of money in the council and in the water works is the result of suggestions. Ask a member of either boards why a thing is done and he suddenly realizes that he does not know, that someboddy suggested it and without any very particular attention to the matter the suggestion was carried out. momebody is wanted to put the brakes on this suggestion business.

Somebody makes a suggestion that certain members be sent on a junkeeting trip. Nobody in particular wants the expenditure, nobody in particufor speaks against the expenditure so it slides through. Somebody suggests . expenditure for something cise, sobody in particular wasts it neither door anybody particularly oppose it, so Mr. Suggestion slides through.

The result is that at the end of a year the suggestions made by somendy or other have eaten up a large amount of money for which the people have never received any value and for which nobody in the council fells that they are specially responsible, the whole matter being the result of a suggestion followed up by a free and easy acquiesence that resulted in the suggestion becoming an expensive fact.

We advise our municipal heards—all of them—to be on the lookout for these suggestion businesses in the future. It certainly has been expensive in

There has been some talk, mainly is thehe country. This may be true, Toronto Giobo, about Labor objecting to conscription in various part of such objection. Labor has been but if it is true Labor has no foundation for shared bountifully in the emolutreated magnificently by the war. Labor has work the war has advanced the ments flowing from the war. In every line of saily so in the line of steel and wages of the laboring man and this is super able reason why Labor should iron working mechanics. There is no reason or class should object to it.

Of all the different pertions of the Unminion of Canada no portion should be so keen to enter the war and help Great Britain and France as the French-Canadians, yet they have been the glowest. This slowness is the direct result of two definite causes. Once is information as far as the rural inhabitants of the causes. the determined, spiteful and constant especition of such traiters as Bourases and LaVerage in the cities and towns.

The educated better class of people of Quebec are just as strongly in favor of recruiting to assist in winning war as they are in Ontario, but there has been from the very first a clique of malcontents who in an effort o unince the Rozelsmont and forth a fittle botterers notolieth note continueally tried to discourage recruiting in all the cities and towns and even in I do not know whether this theory has ever been proven out to a fine the country places that they could reach. This has had a deterrant effect on any subject it is that of junketing trips. The council this year seems to as they are in other provinces. They do not read the newspapers so freely have junketing trips on the brain. than antipathy.

> The rural French-Canadian does not move about very much. He is not posted on outside matters to any extent. His home life, his church life, and local sports, engage his attention and consequently it is hard to reach him with matters foreign to those immediately around him.

There is no rural Ontario in the same sense as there is rural Quebec. Ontario is so dotted with villages and towns and cities in every portion that it is in quick touch with the whole wirld and every throb of the cable bearing war news in felt by all the people amost instantaneously. In rural Quebec it is entirely different, Cable newsparely reach them except in a round about way and the result is that the French-Canadian is satisfied to go on in his own quiet home like way, not othering about Europe and not greatly interested in the war.

France has long ago lost any intrant for the French-Canadian. French-Canada is his nation, is his home, is him country. He owes no allegiance to any other. Consequently the fact that Plance was at war exected him not in the least, and the fact that Great Britaln was in the war affected him very little. The result of all this is that Queine has yet to send many men to the front before she will have taken her share of responsibility in this war. Conscription is the only means of gettin; the necessary number from Quebec.

It may be expected, therefore, that dit French agitators in Quebec, all political shisters seeking to make capital for themselves, all enemies of the government, and all those who have pro-German instincts, will do all they can to thwarf the Government to list entry to have Canada take the full share of her responsibilities in limiting the war.

horough with expecting for sale chocolate cream unfit for human consum tion. The following notice of the case appeared in the Municipal Journal of September 29, 1916:-The evidence given by Dr. Gates was to the effect that on the 4th, inst.

he was passing the defendant's shop, when he noticed a considerable number · of files in the window. He noticed exposed for sale a dish of chocolate creams in bars which obviously were unfit for food. The surface of fourteen of the hars had been melted by the sun, and between twenty and thirty files were crawling over it, while four flies were imbedded in the cream. During the time he looked through the window, probably not more than a minute, between twenty and thirty flies were crawling over the chocolate. He seized the chocolate, which was destroyed.

In reply to the beach, Dr. Cates said that nearly all the summer diarrhoes they had in the town was directly due to contaminated food, chiefly contamination by flies, and, besides that, there were innumerable cases of liness in the summer arising from the same cause.

The defendant, who said the window had been cased in, and that he had done what he could to deal with the flies, was fined 40s, or twenty-eight days. -(Conservation of Life.)

UNION and CO-OPERATION Rev. J. D. BRYNES, North Bay

FEW years ago we spoke of Rest as East, and West as West, and New Ontario as "No Man's Land," separating the one from the other, but the incalculable wealth of wooded hill and monted mountain attracted a large and everincreasing population. Among these new-comers are men of almost every tribe and nation-Russians, Austrians, Germans, Jows. Finlanders, Norweginns, Swedes, Poles, Icelanders, Turks, Hindus, Roumanlans, Ruthenians, Chinese, and many others, as is seen from the fact that is one small town all four thousand people. twenty-three (23) different languages are spoken.

To meet this situation the Church in the North has endeavored to unify its work along different lines, especially by an extensive system of co-operation.
